Home and Community-Based Services (HCBS) are also called Waiver-Funded Services or Waiver Programs. The term “waiver” is used because the federal government “waives” medical assistance rules for institutional care so the state of Pennsylvania can use the funds for HCBS. HCBS provides the support and services beyond those covered by the Medical Assistance program (also referred to as Medicaid) to help people stay in a home setting instead of moving to a long-term care facility.
